

Greg Robleto

Brand and creative leader with 20 years in investing and asset management. Builds the positioning, identity systems, and AI-enabled production that keep a brand consistent at scale, from a Pentagram rebrand with 92% adoption to campaigns behind a flagship ETF's growth to $2B+ in AUM.

greg@robleto.com

CORE COMPETENCIES

- Brand Positioning & Messaging Strategy
- Visual & Verbal Identity Systems
- Integrated Campaigns & Creative Direction
- Brand Governance & AI-Enabled Creative Systems
- Creative in Regulated Financial Services
- Agency & Partner Management
- Brand Architecture & Naming
- Product Experience & UX Leadership

RECENT EXPERIENCE

Head of Brand, Marketing & Product Design

Motley Fool Asset Management • Jan 2023 – Present

- Own brand and creative direction for Motley Fool Asset Management and, through June 2026, Motley Fool Wealth Management, with compliance sign-off and voice-and-tone standards on every piece.
- Remain the escalation point for brand decisions at The Motley Fool's core business, fielding inbound brand review requests others aren't positioned to resolve.
- Develop positioning and messaging for the ETF lineup: helped position three factor funds launched in 2025, shaped the retail value proposition across all six passive ETFs, and am co-developing the brand platform for an upcoming fund.
- Crafted the brand presence that supported the flagship ETF's growth from $400M to over $2B in AUM in three years, including high-visibility moments such as Times Square billboards, CBOE and NASDAQ installations, and Future Proof activations.
- Lead agency and production partners: lead contact for the creative teams at three agencies (helped select two), direct up to four contractors, and oversee ~$500K in agency ad creative and $200K–$500K event installations.
- Built and govern the brand system: nearly 100 compliance-cleared components reused without new review, with approved disclosure language defined for each asset type and message.
- Run a lean model by design as the human in the loop over contractors, agencies, and AI agents that produce and update on-brand assets, delivering the output of a full-time team.

Brand, Creative & Product Leadership

The Motley Fool • Jan 2006 – Dec 2022

- Head of Brand Design and Identity (2019–2021, concurrent): Led the first enterprise rebrand in 30 years with Pentagram, shaping the architecture across masterbrand, divisions, and businesses and leading the rollout to 92% adoption.
- Brought structure to naming, turning competing suggestions into intuitive names that fit their product families.
- Head of Product Design & UX Research (2020–2022): Rebuilt design and led a 10-person design and research team; set the brand experience playbook across the customer journey; presented directly to the CEO and C-suite.
- Head of Digital Product Experience (2016–2020): Led the move from print newsletters to web-first subscriptions, retiring print and unifying subscriptions online.
- Lead Brand Strategist (2011–2012): Championed social as an earned-media channel and led brand positioning pilots on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and YouTube until leadership made it a supported business line; grew the community to 100,000+ customers.
- Head of Creative Services (2009–2011): Led seven designers across six business lines as subscriptions grew from six services to dozens.
- Earlier: Senior UX Designer and Lead Product Designer (2006–2009, 2012–2016), including white-label investing tools for AOL Daily Finance.

EDUCATION

Stanford Graduate School
Certificate: Design Thinking • 2022

University of Delaware
B.A. English Honors, Cum Laude • 2000

COMMUNITY & LEADERSHIP

Delaware Shakespeare Festival
Co-Founder, Managing Director & Board Member (Emeritus) • 2004 – 2024
Built the brand and sponsorships behind a $500K+ annual budget

Ohio State Univ. & Boston Univ. Faculty
Design Faculty • 2008 – 2010, 2022 – 2023